'Suspend CIA Recruiting'

by JACK MASTROLIANNI

Meeting in Arnold Lounge last night, the Cammarian Club spent the majority of its time drafting two resolutions concerning first, the current University recruitment policy, and secondly, student demonstrations.

After discussing the possible consequences of maintaining at Brown the recruitment policy presently in existence, passed the following resolution:

"Whereas it is important that a full investigation be made into recruiting policy, be it resolved that the Cammarian Club urges President Heffner to establish a joint student-faculty-administration committee to study recruiting policy, and because of the seriousness of the issues involved in the CIA recruitment, let it be further resolved that the Cammarian Club recommends that President Heffner suspend CIA recruiting until such time that the committee can complete its business."

The hope was expressed that the administration will find the opportunity to talk with those who object to the current policy — this course possibly leading to modification of the existing rules.

While this resolution will presumably eliminate immediate need for student demonstrations, a second motion, passed 20-0-2, urged that

"... dismissal from the University ... not be a punishment for political action judged to be of a non-violent nature by the University Council."

Before concluding the meeting, members also learned the results of the recent Vietnam Referendum and of last Friday's poll on Brown's recruiting policy.

(These results appear on this page — columns one and five.)
